

12th Annual Anti-Tamper Conference

17-19 April 2012
Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory (APL)
Laurel, Maryland 20723

The Department of Defense Anti-Tamper Executive Agent is pleased to announce that the 2012 DoD Anti-Tamper (AT) Conference will be held from 17-19 April 2012 at Johns Hopkins APL, in Laurel, Maryland. A SECRET security clearance is required to attend this event. Due to last year's cancelation, the theme of this year's conference will be the same:

"Incorporating Anti-Tamper into Already Fielded Systems."

Program managers, system engineers, and government and industry personnel involved in AT activities will find this event extremely informative. The conference is a full three-day event consisting of presentations on DoD Acquisition and AT Policy changes, industry technology briefings from both industry and government personnel, as well as updates and candid views on current trends in anti-tamper protections. In addition to presentations from senior government and industry personnel, the conference also provides a forum for sharing ideas and making contacts with leaders and subject matter experts within the AT Community.

To view more details and to see continuing updates, please visit the DoD Anti-Tamper Website at <http://at.dod.mil>.

Registration for the 2012 DoD AT Conference will open on 9 January 2012.

Registration will be conducted through the DoD Anti-Tamper Website. The registration fee will be $150.00.

Please join us at Johns Hopkins University in April for the 2012 DoD AT Conference. We look forward to seeing you there!